

WITH ICT TECHNOLOGY, TANZANIA EXPECTED TO ACHIEVE MOJAR STRIDES

As Tanzania moves forwards middle income economy a smooth migration toward having ICT literate society will propel the efforts much easier.

This was said yesterday in Dar es Salaam by the Director of ICT Commission in Tanzania Samson Mwele when he was addressing delegates during the 51th International conference on social Implication of computers in developing countries.

Mr Mwele said that the government has put efforts to utilize ICT as a model user, thus creating high demand for ICT products and services, saying that there is also need to facilitate the recognition of ICT professionals with include development and recognition of digital skills certificate both at local and international level.

The ICT director further said that the college of ICT, as dedicated institution on ICT natters, besides a defined philosophy in teaching Excellency, needs self-motivation, peace of mind, conducive environment, funding and collaboration with other research institution worldwide.

The three day conference which is jointly hosted by the University of Dar es Salaam and University of Oslo from Norway and held in the country for the first time, brought together participants from over 40 countries.

Daily News

TANAPA TARGETS TO ATTRACT 1.5 M TOURISTS PER YEAR

The National Parks (Tanapa) targets to attract about 1.5 million tourists annually to its widespread attraction in the next five years.

A half of the targeted visitors, about 700, 000, will be domestic tourists and 750,000 will be from traditional source markets outside, it was revealed here at the weekend.

During the period, the conservation agency targets to increase the bed capacity of its accommodation facilities to 6,830 from about 3600 presently.

Tanapa which currently manages 16 National Parks is the meantime devising a way to increase to three days the average stay for each visitor in the park from 1.9 days now.

THE CITIZEN 6 MAY 2019

